

SPOTLIGHT ON THE HILL

PENINSULA HERITAGE SCHOOL'S HARVEST FAIR

Peninsula Heritage School celebrated 50 years of education with its annual Harvest Fair this past October. Co-Chairs Christine Pearson and Cindy Waldman transformed the school's campus into an amusement park for the children, and a bakery/boutique and outdoor café for the parents. A giant slide, game booths, laser tag maze, old-fashioned picnic activities including a pie-eating contest, and a dunk tank enthralled the children. Simultaneously, parents shopped for delicious goodies in the "Kountry Kitchen," an actual movie set, donated by the Waldman Family. Parent Megan Duckett sang with "AWOL," a rock band, providing music during the entire event. Proceeds from the Harvest Fair assist in funding the school's arts and science programs.

— PHOTOS BY DEBBIE SCHWARTZ AND KIM NYGAARD —

1. Trustee and parent Art Auerbach and Head of School Patricia Cailler.
2. Harvest Fair Co-Chairs and parents Cindy Waldman and Christine Pearson.
3. Parent Javier Martinez and Board Co-Chair Adam Walch.
4. Trustee Peggy Bartlett and Alan Cailler.
5. Mathieu Cailler, alum, and parent Craig Waldman relax at the café/bistro.
6. Board Co-Chair Richard Borsuk, with grandparent Kitty Edler and parent Phil Anthony.
7. Former parents Rev. Laura Krauss, Rev. Reinhard Krauss, and alumna Lydia Krauss.

